

ITALY STANDS ON DEMAND FOR FIUME; DELEGATES MAY NOT RETURN TO CONFERENCE

Early Settlement of Difficulty Seems Improbable; Wilson Also Firm.

FAR EAST IS ELIMINATED

Settlement of Japan and China to German Possessions There Left for Determination of League of Nations; Turkish Situation is in Doubt.

By Associated Press.

PARIS, April 23.—The Italian delegation to the peace conference re-asserted today its determination to stand firm on the question of Fiume, indicating that unless the council changed its position the delegation would not return to the conference.

Premier Orlando threatened to return to Italy today unless there is a satisfactory adjustment of the Fiume and Dalmatian questions. Premier Lloyd George is trying to persuade the Italian leader to remain in Paris while he continues his efforts to reconcile the opposing viewpoints.

An early settlement of the difficulty is consequently thought to be improbable, especially as President Wilson is understood to be equally as firm as the Italian representatives. With Premier Orlando still absent, Premier Clemenceau and Lloyd George this morning the consideration of questions concerning China and Japan.

The facts of the deadlock over the Italian claims in the Adriatic, according to the Petit Parisien, are as follows:

President Wilson proposed that Fiume, which is not mentioned in the Treaty of London, should be a free city but attached to the Jugo-Slav customs system and further that the London Treaty should be subjected to a total revision.

Italy refused to accept this proposal, whereupon President Wilson withdrew, leaving Italy alone with the representatives of the other signatories of the treaty. During the meeting of the representatives of the signatories both Premier Orlando and Foreign Minister Sonnino were most conciliatory, Orlando especially having asked repeatedly on what conditions France and Great Britain would consent to give Fiume to Italy. Baron Sonnino said he was ready to discuss a revision of the London treaty.

However, President Wilson, although he was not present at the meeting kept in touch with the situation, then wanted to reopen the question of the Treaty of London but without enjoining the revision to the Treaty of Fiume. The President has refused from this proposal to make Fiume a free city and is inclined to give it absolutely to the Jugo-Slavs. As the Premier Clemenceau and Lloyd George they are understood to be ready to adhere to the Treaty of Fiume, at the same time seeking means of reconciliation.

Although the peace conference in Paris have passed along for future adjustment of the Japanese problem, one of two troublesome questions standing in the way of the final signing of the peace treaty, the Italian difficulty, was still pressing for solution at today's meeting of the conference leaders.

Italy's delegation at the peace conference, however, seems to be showing a disposition to recede from the firm attitude which it had taken and which has brought about an admittedly grave situation in the work of securing peace. Reports from Paris indicate a willingness on the part of the Italians to listen to suggestions of a compromise, this leading to hope that some way will be found to adjust the conflicting demands of Italy and Jugo-Slavia regarding the city of Fiume and the Dalmatian coast.

Italy, it is said, has offered to give up all claims to the Dalmatian hinterland and the coastal watersheds. On the other hand she has rejected offers of Fiume in return for relinquishing any claim she may have on the Dalmatian coast.

Rival claims of China and Japan to Kiao Chiao and the Shantung peninsula have been settled and if the Chinese and Japanese home governments consent it seems probable these claims will be taken up by the League of Nations after peace has been declared. After conferring on the subject yesterday the council of four announced that Germany's rights to the territory involved in the dispute would be terminated by no final decision was made of the peninsula or the former German fortress of Kiao Chiao.

It seems to be established that the Soviet government of Hungary has crumbled but the situation is still quite obscure. The party that has assumed control is not definitely known.

The report that a Soviet regime had been set up in Turkey is doubted in London where it is pointed out that there was any indication in the rumor.

LOU GEMAS IN JAIL, CONFESSES TO POOL ROOM SAFE ROBBERY

Woman in the Case is Blameless, According to Connellsville Man Caught in New York.

Lou Gemas, arrested in Syracuse, N. Y., for the robbery of $4,500 from the safe of the West Penn pool room here on the morning of April 12, was brought to the county jail in Connellsville yesterday by County Detective John J. Smith. The officer went to Syracuse after Gemas had been arrested and returned with him.

Gemas, according to Detective Smith, has confessed to the robbery. He does not talk much but he exonerates Elizabeth Evans, the girl in the case, entirely. He says she had nothing to do with the stealing of the money and is entirely blameless.

Gemas said that he and McPoland and the girl went to the pool room down while he, Gemas, went in and worked the combination on the safe.

Suspecting Gemas of the robbery, Detective Smith went to Pittsburgh to arrest him. McPoland and the girl were picked up as being implicated in the case but Gemas escaped. Learning he would probably go to Syracuse the police at that place were notified and picked him up on his arrival.

FIUME CANNOT BECOME PART OF ITALY-WILSON

PARIS, April 23.—In a statement issued by President Wilson today, explaining his position on the Adriatic question, he declares that Fiume cannot become a part of Italy.

The President also contends that every condition concerning the Adriatic settlement has been changed since Italy entered the war upon the promises of the pact of London, the Austro-Hungarian empire having disappeared. He notes that new states have been created for which Fiume is the natural outlet to the sea.

The President also contends that the strategic necessity pleaded in behalf of Italy's claim to the Dalmatian island no longer prevails as the Austrian naval menace has ceased to exist.

A "No Accident Week" celebration, beginning tomorrow and closing on Wednesday, April 30, will be held at Dickerson Run, among the employees of the Pittsburg & Lake Erie railroad. The celebration is the first of the kind to be held in this section and will be featured each day by noon-day addresses. Tomorrow Safety Agent P. H. Babcock of Pittsburg will be among the speakers.

The Dickerson Run Terminal Safety committee, under the auspices of which the celebration is being held, is sending out "No Accident Week" circulars to every employee of the company. They read as follows: "We are depending upon you to help us in something entirely new. Will you help us put Dickerson Run first in the standing of the Pittsburg & Lake Erie terminal by celebrating 'No Accident Week' from April 24 to April 30, inclusive. Keep the thought of safety first in mind so that you will not mar this no accident week by being responsible for an accident."

DON'T MISS A PERSON, SLOGAN IN CAMPAIGN

Victory Loan Teams Bending Every Effort to Quickly Raise Quota.

SOME DISTRICTS COVERED

Second Counting Will be Resorted to in Order That Everybody May Have Opportunity to Subscribe; Ohioops Falling Into Line With Vins.

Substantial increases in the Victory-Liberty Loan subscriptions over the amount reported yesterday were announced at the noon lunch of the canvassing teams today. Every team showed a gain and big stride towards the city's share of the Connellsville district quota was evidenced.

Not a person is being missed by the canvassers in their efforts in this last big war loan drive. People who are not at home on the first call are being visited a second and even a third time. Solicitors have never before displayed such energy and enthusiasm in their work and are giving willingly of their time for the sale of the Victory-Liberty bonds.

Many districts have been gone over in the three days' drive and some portions have had a second coming. Additional supplies were received today and there will be no further shortage.

Although the campaign in the country does not end until May 10 it is the desire to finish the work here immediately. To this end the solicitors are bending every effort.

Nothing has yet been heard from any of the outside districts as to the progress they are making. These surrounding sections have never yet failed, however, and there is no doubt but what they will go over the top in this final campaign.

In Ohioops a committee of seven is in charge of the work. J. Boyd is chairman there and Charles Holt is vice chairman. This committee was organized last Saturday and has entered the drive with vim. Although no reports have been filed by the committee the heads of the campaign in this district feel at ease concerning that territory.

The dinner today was served by the women of the United Presbyterian and Trinity Reformed churches. Excellent lunches are being given the canvassing teams when they gather at noon to make their reports and they are very greatly appreciated.

Tomorrow the First Presbyterian church women will serve and on Friday the women of the Immaculate Conception church will prepare the dinner.

Judge E. H. Reppert will be a guest at the dinner tomorrow. He has always attended at least one of the noon gatherings of the Connellsville men and the solicitors desire to have him here on this last campaign. He will not make an address, however.

The talk to the canvassers tomorrow will be made by Attorney E. C. Higbee if it is possible for him to be here. If Attorney Higbee cannot attend the dinner he will send another man to speak.

Bryan Predicts Governor Will be Presidential Candidate.

EAST LIVERPOOL, O., April 23.—Governor Sproul of Pennsylvania will be the Republican nominee for President in 1920, William J. Bryan, former secretary of state in President Wilson's cabinet, predicted here last night in an interview.

"While recognizing the many changes in conditions that may take place between now and the Republican national convention," said Mr. Bryan, "I should say Governor Sproul would be the next Republican presidential candidate. Governor Sproul favors prohibition and woman's suffrage, and he is progressive enough to please the Western progressives."

Noon Total $193,600 in Loan Drive

The Victory-Liberty Loan subscriptions in the city took a big jump over night, reports from the canvassing teams at the noon lunch today totaling $193,600. The subscriptions secured numbered 1,042.

The Seventh ward team, captained by S. P. Ash, which took the lead at the opening of the drive, retained first place by a large margin. The team exceeded its quota today by $11,000, reporting a total of $56,300 subscribed and 221 subscriptions. The workers in the Seventh ward have Joseph Loughrey, a member of the Pitt Base Hospital Unit, who saw 35 months overseas service, gave a short talk. He gave a new insight into the war, speaking on hospital work, which was very interesting. Speaking of the regard of the French for Americans he said when the unit left the hospital there were almost more flowers on the graves of 300 dead American soldiers than on a thousand in a French graveyard nearby. The French never failed to look after an American grave, he said. "We had rather a deep feeling for them when we left," he concluded.

WATCHMAN HELD AT BAY BY GUN; ROBBER ESCAPES

Small Sum Secured in Bold Crime at West Side Meat Market Last Night.

Intruder's Light Awakens, Man Sleeping in Rear of Place and He Fails to Get to the Safe; Holding Revolver the Fellow Gets Away.

The meat shop of James J. Schneider of the West Side was entered last night and a little change, consisting of $100, was taken. The intruder was the drawer of the cash register, the robber being chased off before he could get to the safe.

The identity of the thief is unknown. The man wore a red handkerchief tied about his face and when discovered in the store by "Buckie" Walters, who sleeps in the rear of the place at night, he covered his face with a revolver until he could make his getaway.

Entrance was gained from the front. The transom is always left open at night, but is covered with wire screening. The man broke through this and had gone straight to the cash register where he got the loose change.

Before attempting to open the safe he went to the rear of the store, presumably to procure a key for a hasty retreat if necessary. He flashed his light into Walters' room which awakened him. "Buckie" chased the man back into the shop but before he could close with him the robber turned and covered him with a gun. He held Walters under the revolver until he had reached the transom. Jumping to the outside he dashed down the alley and got safely away. Walters reported the robbery to the police.

The thief was a bold one, attempting his job shortly after 12:30 o'clock. There is a plain view into the shop from the street and an electric light burns all night.

VICTORY EMBLEM APPEARS IN HOMES ALL OVER COUNTY

Display Indicates Wide-Spread Buying of Bonds For Fifth Loan.

ALL COMMUNITIES BUSY

Three Brownsville Get Under Way Today, Uniontown is Hard at Work. Smithfield Makes Fine First-Day Report, Point Marion Lines Up.

Appearance in front windows in houses in all sections of Fayette county of Victory Loan Subscribers' emblems holds deep significance to loan officials at county headquarters who are closely watching each development as the three weeks' drive gets under way. The display of the subscribers' emblem signifies to loan officials that both loan workers and prospects are meeting their obligation in the Victory loan to the fullest degree and furnishes additional proof that Fayette county will not close the books of its war record "until the last dog is hung" as Lieutenant John L. Robinson aptly expressed it in his message to returned soldiers.

Firemen of the Brownsvilles this morning commenced a house to house canvass of the Three Towns under the direction of H. O. Hornbake and the first detailed report is expected from that district this evening. Although no report has yet been submitted by Harry Weyer, Uniontown city chairman, all teams are hard at work and a substantial total has already been realized with the $100,000 subscription of Thomas B. Semans topping the list.

To Allen McDowell goes the honor of registering the first Victory Loan "tally" in the Uniontown high school. McDowell, who is a junior, purchased a bond in his own name and made a report to the room teacher in accordance with the rules governing the school contest. By those rules school pupils are not permitted to solicit subscriptions, their duty being to make certain that some member of their family makes application for a bond through one of the authorized solicitors. A bond purchased by one of the students, of course, is acceptable in the contest, but no pupil may receive credit for more than one bond.

The object of the contest is to make the home of every school pupil a Victory Bond home and to accomplish that purpose no little depends upon the efforts of the school children.

Active campaigns are being conducted among the railroad employees of the coke region. At Brownsville the sum of $14,750 was subscribed yesterday by employees of the Monaca railway. The solicitation was commenced by employees of that road in the Fourth campaign subscribed for more than $100,000. Similar campaigns are being conducted among the railroad men at Connellsville and Dickerson Run.

Smithfield, the first district over the top in the Fourth loan drive, was the first to make a detailed report to headquarters. Chairman R. S. Bursh reported 20 subscriptions. The object of the contest is to make the home of every school pupil a Victory Bond home and to accomplish that purpose no little depends upon the efforts of the school children.

WASHINGTON, April 23.—Reconstitution of the National Guard was actually started today when the War Department, through the bureau of militia affairs, authorized the organization of seven regiments and one cavalry battalion of infantry, one squadron of cavalry and 18 companies of coast artillery.

The state of New York was authorized to raise four regiments of infantry, one squadron of cavalry and 12 companies of coast artillery. New Jersey was authorized to organize one regiment of infantry and two companies of coast artillery. Ohio two regiments of infantry and four companies of coast artillery.

Other authorizations for units are expected to follow soon. The states first considered were those in which the conditions were such that their governors could send armed forces contingencies. The state of Pennsylvania, for instance, reported to the War Department that it possessed at this time a very efficient state constabulary and 3,000 state troops, sufficient to handle any emergency which could be foreseen at this time.

COURT OF HONOR CENTERING AT BRIMSTONE CORNER WILL BE PART OF CELEBRATION PLAN

Wings Will Extend to Cottage Avenue and Eighth Street, Crawford Avenue; Murphy and Green in Pittsburgh Street.

NAMES OF 110TH DEAD ON SHIELDS AT CORNER

Building an electrically lighted court of honor with the centerpieces at Brimstone Corner and with the columns extending up Crawford avenue as far as Cottage avenue and across the river to Eighth street, and south in Pittsburgh street as far as Green street and north in Pittsburgh street as far as Murphy avenue, was the plan of lighting the street as presented by the committee on illumination before the central committee of the home-coming celebration at last night's meeting.

Frank R. Sweeney submitted the plans that he and W. R. Kenney had made of the streets to be lighted and then introduced Benjamin Raphael, of the Raphael Electrical company, Pittsburgh. Mr. Raphael suggested that the pillars of the court of honor be painted to make them resemble marble, which the committee decided to do. It was the suggestion of J. B. Angle, chairman of the central committee, that the names of the 110th dead of Fayette county be placed on shields on Brimstone Corner and the rest of the names of those who have fallen, on the columns leading out from the corner.

M. B. Pryce, general chairman of the celebration, suggested that an electrical display be placed on Brimstone corner prior to the celebration in order to advertise it more completely. It was decided to erect one about three weeks before the celebration.

Robert Mulac, secretary of music committee, said that he had received a letter from Chief Musician Don. M. Kimmel of the 110th Infantry band, saying that he would be glad to be here during the celebration. He was uncertain, he said, whether all of the members of the band could be persuaded to come, but that he would do his best. O. B. Horvick, chairman of the music committee, asked the central committee to attempt to fix the celebration date. He said the committee can not definitely engage any musical organizations until a date is named.

Chairman A. O. Bixler of the finance committee asked all the committees to

STEEL PRICES WILL PROBABLY STAND TO END OF THE YEAR

Large Companies Planning to Continue on Present Basis, Leading Officials Declare.

NEW YORK, April 23.—The largest steel companies are planning to continue on the basis of the price agreed upon between the Industrial Board and the manufacturers some time ago, no matter what may be the outcome of the controversy in Washington between the Industrial Board of the Department of Commerce and the Railroad Administration, with regard to minimum quotations for steel products.

This was learned today from an official of one of the largest steel companies. He predicted that there would be no price cutting campaign unless it was undertaken by some of the smaller producers in which case it would not be important, and insisted that the price of steel would not be lower during the remainder of the year. On the other hand, he was inclined to believe that it might be considerably higher before fall.

AN OVERBURDENED MOTHER.

If the steps a mother takes and the work she does could only be measured by figures, what an array they would make. Through girlhood, widowhood and motherhood woman toils on, often suffering from backache, pain in side, headache, nervousness and sleeplessness, symptoms of more serious ailments peculiar to her sex. Thousands of such women, however, have found relief from suffering by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, as is evidenced by the letters of recommendation continually being published in this paper.—Adv.

HIS LIFE'S OUTLOOK HAS BRIGHTER HUE

Arthur Miller, of Drexel Hill, a subscriber of Philadelphia, says he is a real optimist now, and that his outlook on life is brighter than ever. "I suffered from stomach trouble," he says, "and accumulated around my liver and heart. Occasionally I would have sharp twinges of rheumatism in the joints and muscles of my legs and shoulders. There was considerable belching, of gas and a water-brash. A sour, acid stomach manifested itself in an ugly, dark-brown taste, like bile. I bought Tanlac because I heard about the good it did others. Tanlac helped me from the start."

The genuine J. I. Gure Co. Tanlac is now sold here by Baughley's, Harmon's and Connelville Drug stores and other leading druggists in every community.

WILLIAM POWERS MAKES A PUN-CHANCE.

William Powers strode boldly out of his house in the old oak street, clutching his cane, about his tall, slightly stooped figure, and set down on the front steps to collect his thoughts.

While waiting, he saw, in the sun, a young woman sitting on the steps, looking at her watch. He went over to her, and, looking at her, he said, "You are waiting for me, aren't you?"

"Yes," she answered, in a soft, sweet voice, "I am waiting for you, Mr. Powers."

"Good morning, Mr. Powers," she said, looking at her watch. "You are late, aren't you?"

"No," he answered, "I am not late. I am only early."

"How can you be early?" she asked, looking at her watch. "You are late, aren't you?"

THE SIKKON.

"THE SILK-LINED BURGLAR"—With Priscilla Dean in the leading role, is being shown today. The story is based on one of Boston Blackie's stories by Jack Boyle. It deals with the girl's determination to aid her sweetheart, a United States secret service agent whose professional career is threatened with ruin unless he can get the contents of a certain safe.

His official position prevents him from taking the most direct means of accomplishing this, but his sweetheart, Doris Mason, is under no restrictions. Doris hires "Boston Blackie" to go with her and blow the safe. They are surprised by the unexpected return of the owner, and fights, flights and surprises follow each other in a rapid order. The play moves with ever-increasing speed to an entirely unexpected climax. One of the big punches of the picture comes when it is discovered that two messages have been written on each one of a lot of photographs records seized in the apartment of a German spy suspect, Miss Dean the star, has an audacious emotional role that is well fitted for her personality. She is supported by a prominent cast of screen stars. Thursday Carlyle Blackwell and Evelyn Greely will be seen in "Hitting the Trail," a World production and on Friday and Saturday Lillian Walker will be presented in "A Girl of Dust." Dorothy Phillips will be seen soon in "Hearts of Humanity."

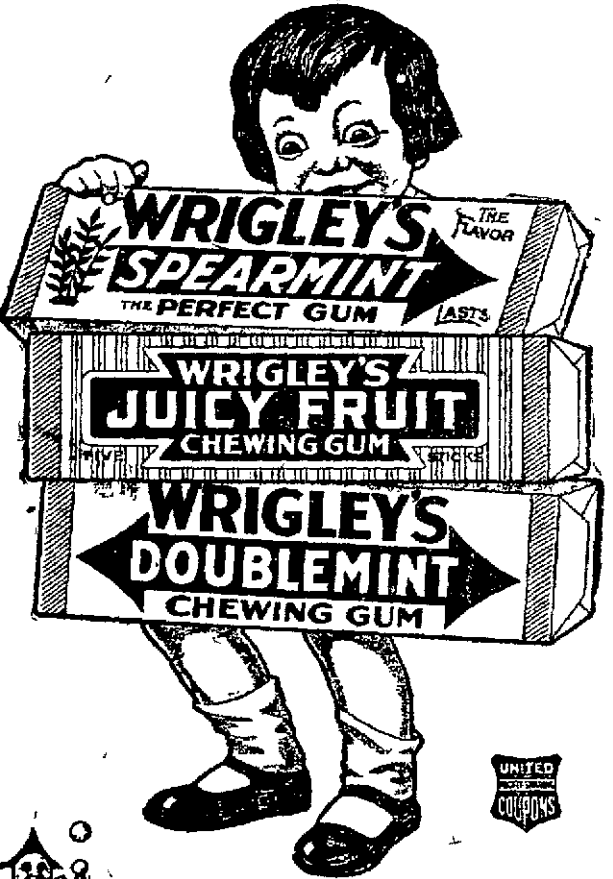

THE ARCADE.

Before the camera Houdini broke his own record in a scene of the great fifteen-episode serial "The Master Mystery." Instead of two sets of handcuffs he wore three, he was completely bound by heavy chains from his shoulders to half way below his knees, his ankles encased in leg manacles. Thus equipped, he was placed in an iron-reinforced, heavy wooden packing case, securely bound and locked by eight strong men out into the Hudson river. A strong current was running the box tipped to one side then immediately sank to view. In exactly 32 seconds Houdini appeared, swimming leisurely about as though taking a refreshing dip. But not alone did he break his own record by 20 seconds almost cutting it in half but he performed the feat with a broken wrist, he obtained no permit from the police he signed no release statements for his men, so sure was he of his success. As his box was lost to sight and was to be used again in the serial after regaining the dock from which the box was hoisted, he joined the divers in their search for it. When found it was still securely bound.

WORLD SERIES HERO IS SOON FORGOTTEN

All Major League Clubs Waive on Outfielder Whitman.

Player Who Made It Possible for Boston Red Sox to Win Championship by Spectacular Play—Not Wanted.

Baseball heroes are soon forgotten. Now comes the news that waivers have been received from all the major league clubs by Manager Edward Barrow of the Boston Red Sox on Outfielder George Whitman, the hero of the 1918 world series, who made it possible for the Red Sox to win the championship.

In the first game of the 1918 world series "Big Jim" Vaughn, of the Cubs, opposed "Babe" Ruth in one of the closest pitchers' battles ever contested in the big series. George Whitman was the only player who succeeded in getting two hits. Twice he saved this game by great catches.

Whitman's three-bagger to the center field fence in the second contest scored the lone tally made by his team in that game. The third game of the series was featured by George's playing. He scored one of his team's runs and in the fourth inning ended Chicago's rally by a spectacular play.

Up until the fourth game of the series, Whitman had hit safely in every contest and, while scoring in this one, he failed to get a safe drive. Whitman featured the fifth game by another clever catch and in the sixth inning his perfect throw to the plate prevented the Cubs from scoring.

In the final game of the series Whitman's playing enabled his team to win the world's championship.

FROM KNOTHOLE TO OWNER'S BOX SEAT—GEORGE W. GRANT'S RISE IN BASEBALL

George W. Grant.

Do you remember the time the Gainsboro-Giants came over to play your own home-town game for the county championship and how you had the knothole in the backyard fence, from which you were to witness the decisive contest, picked out several days ahead, and how you got up early on the day of the game so as to be sure another kid did not beat you to that same knothole, and how on your arrival at the park you discovered to your dismay that the groundkeeper had carefully covered every knothole with tin, and how you resolved then and there to some day own a ball club, and let all the kids in free and bar the groundkeeper, even though he paid five hundred dollars for a ticket? Of course you remember. But then as the years passed you forgot your boyhood resolutions and decided to become the town's leading lawyer, or doctor?

Grant Didn't Forget. George Washington Grant, who recently purchased the Boston National league team, was one who did not forget. Diamond destiny had marked him for its very own. A rabid fan from boyhood, he witnessed many games through a knothole. George's baseball experience started in Cincinnati, his boyhood home. He lived near the hotel where the big league players stopped while in town, and it was his proud and exclusive privilege to ride in the bus which carried the players to the ball park for morning practice. In the afternoon he sold newspapers in the vicinity of the park and between sales watched the games through a knothole. His specialty was baseball editions.

Time passed and young Grant emigrated to New York and became one of the pioneers in the motion picture game. He was enjoying a degree of prosperity which at that time came in no small measure to those who had ground-floor connections in the motion picture enterprises. He then went to London, where he became a leader in the new industry.

Bought Boston Braves. Though many miles of water separated him from the States his interest in baseball never waned. On two occasions he came back to the United States for the sole purpose of seeing the world series game.

Mr. Grant was now rated as a millionaire, and when the opportunity presented itself he purchased the Boston club for a price said to be $300,000.

His boyhood ambition realized, he now watches his own team play from the owner's box instead of from the knothole in the unsalable fence.

And he hasn't forgotten his resolution to let the most loyal of rosters, the knothole spectators, in free.

Pat Moran stands high in his home town, Fitchburg, Mass. He also does in Cincinnati—just now.

hampton, where the doughty Italian out-fitter of the Yanks spent the winter working as a mechanic, and it is likely to follow him in baseball. Ping's new name is "Soap Hound," given him because of his fondness for overtime. Often he has worked far into the night and collected double pay for his efforts.

Charlie Herzog should worry where he will play this season. Some one will have to pay him $10,000 under his contract.

There is an insistent demand in certain quarters that the hidden ball trick and the "badger light" be eliminated from baseball.

The New York American League club has released Pitchers Bill Piercy and Dazzy Vance to Sacramento of the Pacific Coast league.

The St. Louis Cardinals may not be flush with money, but they believe in advertising. President "Bucky" Brannan and financed a bowling team known as the Cardinals in the tournament held at Toledo.

Tank Pilot Lost His "Pal" in Big Argonne Drive

Operating a machine gun in the turret of a light tank is no "joy ride" even under the best of conditions, and riding in a tank in the thick of battle over ground strewed with tank traps neatly camouflaged with sod, is hazardous enough to suit almost any one. Sergeant V. G. Morgan, gunner on one of the sixteen whippet tanks, which is to tour the Fourth Federal Reserve District for the Victory Loan, almost lost his life in a light Renault tank at Argonne Woods, September 26, 1918, when the tank plunged into a twelve-foot tank trap filled with water.

Harold Roberts, who was driving the tank in which Morgan was gunner, did lose his life, for he shoved Morgan out of the tank and gave him a chance to swim to safety, but was unable to save himself. For this act of heroism, Roberts' relatives were given a medal of honor in his name.

Sergeant Morgan went overseas with an artillery regiment but was transferred to the Tank Corps in February, 1918. He drove a light Renault tank, similar to one of the whippets, in action at St. Mihiel and Argonne Woods. His home is in Loganport, Ind.

If the players would stretch a few more singles into doubles there would be less stretching in the grand stand.

Proof.
Detective—And what makes you think that the burglar was a bachelor?
Woman—Why, he told me to keep perfectly quiet, and seemed surprised when I didn't.

Not Likely to Be a Star
"My wife is practicing economy now."
"What so?"
"Yes, but I don't believe she's ever going to become expert at it."

Common Experience.
"Now they tell us insanity can be traced to the teeth."
"That's nothing new. I know lots of people who have told me they were just crazy with the toothache."

A Mistake.
"Our friend is suffering, he tells me from insomnia."
"And he told my wife all that was the matter with him was he couldn't sleep."

Quits Naturally.
"A man offered to treat me the other day and then made me pay for it."
"What a mean fellow!"
"Not at all. He was my doctor."

Only Way Left.
Crabshaw—Why do women wear furs in this weather?
Mrs. Crabshaw—Why, dear, is there anything more expensive?—Town Topics.

Just So.
Mary—Once I was engaged to a prize fighter.
Nell—Why didn't you marry him?
Mary—Because he wouldn't give up the ring.

INSOLVENCY.

"What do you make of this? Just as soon as they learned he had wed, this fellow's creditors who had been holding off swooped down upon him."
"That's easy. Evidently they regarded his marriage as a failure."

Pen and Sword.
It is with food that wars are won. Though cannons roar and battle rages, it is hunger that wins the day.

Relief From Taxation.

"What's that?"
"Swearing it off."—London Answers.

Just It.
"The prima donna's life must be most noxious."
"Why must it?"
"Because it is such a sing-song affair."

Too Idealistic.
"Did your friend use crude oil on her furniture as I advised?"
"No; objected to anything which was not refined."

Breaking Him In.
Edwin—Just one, please! You'll be the first girl I ever kissed.
Angeline—Oh! Is that so? Turn your face this way. I'll show you how.

Mixed Up.
"Pretty state of affairs, isn't it?"
"Yes, it is an ugly business, but somebody will have to pay handsome for it."

Good Pipes From Paper Material.
"Pettinax," one of the most important of substitutes for metal, is a compressed paper material, which has been used in place of lead and copper for pipes for gas, oil and other purposes. From a British war trade report it appears that these pipes can endure three or four times as great a pressure as lead, while their weight is only one-sixth as great, and they are water-tight, rustless and unaffected by temperatures up to about 200 degrees Centigrade. The tensile strength of the material is 14,000 pounds per square inch, nearly equaling that of the best steel, and is carried round the waist to tie in the back, is a part of it. Outlets

Sport Clothes to Welcome Summer

Of all the clothes with which women are preparing to welcome the coming summer, and the boys overseas who will return with it, those in the sport class prove the most satisfying. Good times and prosperity are written all over them. They are of various degrees of richness as to materials and of wonderful excellence in design. Nothing expresses the woman of today quite so well as these smart and informal things in which she is well enough dressed for all the happenings of a summer's day.

Certain of the new weaves in silks have opened new worlds for the designers of sport clothes to conquer. These designers are gazing down alluring vistas which the looms are creating for them and the unfolding of sport styles is growing more and more interesting. An outfit that may be accepted as a standard of smartness is pictured here. It is made up of a skirt of harmonized satin, white with loved groups thrown upon it. The woven turquoise lapped silk has attention. It is one of those soft, loosely-knit silks that lend themselves to the procession of new sweater styles. It is open part way down the front and a scarf that crosses at the front and is carried round the waist to tie in the back, is a part of it. Outlets

DEATH OF A FAMOUS DUCK

Peggy of Rouen, N. J. Laid 325 Eggs in a Single Year, and Was Easily World's Champion

The death of Peggy, the famous duck of Rouen, New Jersey, comes as a reminder to us that we would do well to follow the principles which guided the life of this excellent bird. Peggy was celebrated in two hemispheres as the champion egg-layer of the world. The New York Evening Post states: Peggy in one year laid as many as 325 eggs. Yet celebrated as she was, noted wherever eggs were laid or scrambled head of her glorious profession, what was her attitude after we entered the war? Did she rush into print giving her opinion as to what the president ought to do? Not at all! Despite numerous tempting offers from fowl fashions and other magazines she refrained from utterance and continued contributing her daily drop to national victory. Even when the Germans opened their retreat peace drive Peggy did not turn hysterical and demand that they at once surrender all the Strassburg goose. She still in silence went on with her lay. It is related of her that on the morning of her demise she quietly produced an egg and, indicating her satisfaction with a feeble quack, keeled over and expired.

It's True in Terre Haute

The other day a primary teacher in the Terre Haute schools was teaching her youngsters about animals. She had told them about domestic animals and then gave examples of the cow and the pig. Then she turned to the children. "Can't some little boy name some wild animals?" she asked. John could. He rose with alacrity. "Ghosts and Indians," he shouted.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound mixed with olive oil; you will know them by their olive color.

Dr. Edwards spent years among patients afflicted with liver and bowel complaints, and Olive Tablets are the immensely effective result.

COMPANY E TO BE THE CENTER OF A MONSTER CELEBRATION MT. PLEASANT HAS WELL UNDER WAY

Committee of Citizens Will Motor to Philadelphia to Meet Returning 110th Soldiers.

SCOTSDALE ASKED TO JOIN FOR THE OCCASION

Special to The Courier.

MOUNT PLEASANT, April 23.—Company E will be the center of a monster demonstration for returned soldiers, sailors, marines and all Red Cross nurses that were in the service when the command arrived.

Governor Sprout has requested the government to transport the 110th Regiment as a unit to Philadelphia where the boys will be welcomed home to Pennsylvania, where Governor Sprout will head a delegation.

A reception committee will motor to Philadelphia to welcome them in behalf of the community and lay plans for their return home here. It is the purpose of this committee to have the members of Company E from this section return in a body until after the parade.

A banquet will be served on Church street. The largest committee of women that the community has ever known will be assigned for that purpose. It is estimated that 600 boys from Mount Pleasant, Scottdale and vicinity will be home by that time.

On the committee which will go to Philadelphia are Frank Carbaugh, F. E. Painter, J. Z. Fox, T. O. Anderson and E. M. Stevens from Mount Pleasant and B. C. Fretts, J. R. Byrns, James B. Hurst, James Keegan and Thomas J. Hill of Scottdale.

The parade committee, composed of T. O. Anderson, M. O. Hopwood, James McKee, Ernest Copeland, H. J. Jacquette, has sent out invitations to every lodge in this vicinity. Edward Anderson and A. G. Newman of Scottdale will be marshals of the parade.

The finance committee for the celebration is meeting with prompt response. It is estimated that between $2,500 and $3,000 will be needed to finance the celebration. Any money left over will be placed in the memorial fund to erect a suitable memorial for the boys in the service. On the finance committee are C. E. Engle, R. C. Gerretts, Terrence Donnelly and C. E. A PITTSBURGH MAN HAD SUFFERED FOR VERY MANY YEARS

J. E. Garver, No. 1711 Brighton Road, Tells How Plant Juice Helped Him.

Thousands of people have derived relief through the use of Plant Juice, which does its work thoroughly and quickly, as is attested by the testimony of

J. E. GARVER, nials of well-known Pittsburgh people, who have been restored to health. One of the latest testimonials received which may be quoted is that of Mr. J. E. Garver, who resides at No. 1711 Brighton Road, North Side, Pittsburgh, an old resident who is well known for his integrity. He said: "I had suffered from stomach trouble for the past 15 or 20 years, most of which time it was in an ulcerated condition. My food fermented and formed gas; I had heartburn and at times suffered from severe pains in my back. I had tried a lot of different medicines, but none of them seemed to help me, until finally I began to take Plant Juice. I want to go on record that Plant Juice is all that you claim for it and more. My appetite has returned and the gas has entirely left my system, and I feel better all over. I am recommending Plant Juice to all my friends." THOSE GOLD STARS—

There would be hundreds of thousands of gold stars on the service flags of this country if the fighting had not ceased—the war won last November 11.

One thing which stopped that fighting then was that the Huns knew that back of the lines of America was piling up unlimited quantities of guns, munitions, and supplies of every kind, and was training millions of men at home for the 1919 campaign.

That's what made Germany know she was beaten. That's what kept gold stars off the service flags.

Your dollars are asked now to pay for those munitions—to pay for having kept the stars from turning to gold.

HELD PASTORATE IN OHIO

Old Church Records Tell of the Work of President Wilson's Maternal Grandfather.

The coming of Thomas Woodrow, maternal grandfather of President Wilson, to Ohio to preach, is noted briefly in the records of the Chillicothe presbytery. At a meeting held at Bloomingburg September 12, 1837, "Thomas Woodrow, a member of the Congregational Union of England," requested to be received. His case was referred to a committee. At the next meeting of the presbytery, held at Ripley in 1838, he was accepted and immediately received a call from the church at Chillicothe, which, being accepted, he was installed the first Friday in November of that year.

The next entry of interest in the history referring to Rev. Mr. Woodrow is in the records of the presbytery held in Red Oak in 1847, to the effect that because of feeble health he had resigned his pastorate with the church at Chillicothe and the relation was dissolved. He died at his home near Columbus in April, 1877.

It was his grandfather's church and his old home in Carlisle, Eng., that President Wilson visited the first Sunday he was in England last December. He was born at Paisley, Scotland, in 1791, educated at Glasgow university, did missionary work in the Orkneys, settled as the pastor of the Independent church of Carlisle, came to America in 1835, locating first at Brookville, Can. It was from that place that he went to Chillicothe.

Italy's Exports. Italian motor car exports showed a falling off for the first six months of 1918, compared with the corresponding period of the two preceding years. From January 1 to June 30, 1918, a total of 2,338 lorries and touring cars were exported, having a value of approximately $1,400,000, compared with 4,148 vehicles in 1917 and 2,731 in 1916. The number of touring cars exported during the first six months of 1918 was 728, this constituting a record, for the figures of the two preceding years were 244 and 509, respectively.

SMITHFIELD, April 20.—John K. McDonald and wife of Smithton were guests of Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Feather.

We have it from good authority that the state will build the road a section of which is now under contract to Reegan & Lynch, through the borough without a penny's cost to the borough; the same as is done in rural districts that it passes through on either side of the town. This, when viewed in the right light, is a fair proposition, as the outlying districts through which it passes will derive as much, if not more, benefit from its construction than the borough.

It is believed that this expense the borough will improve Water street by connecting up with the brick road that is already constructed from the borough line to Rubele, connecting it with the state road at the intersection of that street. The commissioners say the next piece of county road to be built will be to Nicholson township.

CHAPTER XX.

The First Wayfarer Has One Treasure
Thrust Upon Him—And Forthwith
Claims Another.

"What are you doing here?" demanded Barnes, staring. He seized the man's arm and inquired eagerly: "Have you got the jewels?"

"No; but I will have them before morning," replied Sprouse coolly. "Would you be surprised if I were to tell you that his royal nibs is hiding in this town? Well, he certainly is. The Baroness Hedlund has been here for a week or ten days. She goes by the name of Mrs. Hasselwein. I popped down here this afternoon and found out that she is at the sanatorium, but that she expects to leave tomorrow morning. I made another trip out there this evening and waited. About eight o'clock Mr. Hasselwein strolled up. He sat on the veranda with her for half an hour or so and then left. I followed him. He went to one of the little cottages that belong to the sanatorium. I couldn't get close enough to hear what they said, but I believe he expects to take her away in an automobile early in the morning. It is a seventy-mile ride from here to the junction where they catch the train for the West. I'm going up now to make a call on Mr. Hasselwein. By the way, what is the number of your room?"

"Twenty-two—on the next floor."

"Good. Go upstairs now and I'll join you in about ten minutes. I will tap three times on your door."

"Why should you come to my room, Sprouse? We can say all that is to be said—"

"If you will look on the register you will discover that Mr. J. H. Prosser registered here about half an hour ago. He is in room 30. He left a call for five o'clock. Well, Prosser is another name for Ugo. He left the cottage an hour ago. Came in a jitney or I could have got to him on the way over."

Barnes, regardless of consequences, dashed over to inspect the register. Sprouse followed hesitantly.

"See?" cried Barnes, excitedly, putting his finger on the name "Miss Jones." "She's in room 32—next to Mrs. By god, Sprouse, do you suppose he knows that she is here? Would the dog undertake anything—"

"You may be sure he doesn't know she's here, or you either, for that matter. The country's full of Joneses and Barneses. Go on upstairs. Leave everything to me."

Barnes had been in his room for twenty minutes before he heard the tapping on his door. He opened it and Sprouse slid into the room. The instant the door closed behind him, he threw open his coat and coolly produced a long, shallow metal box, such as one finds in safety vaults.

"With my compliments," he said dryly, thrusting the box into Barnes' hands. "You'd better have the countess check them up and see if they're all there. I am not well enough acquainted with the collection to be positive."

Barnes was speechless. He could only stare, open-mouthed, at this amazing man.

"My God, Sprouse, have you been in that man's room since I saw you down—"

"All you have to do is to keep quiet and look innocent. Stay out of the hall tonight. Don't go near the door of No. 30. Act like a man with brains. I said I would square myself with you and with him, too. Well, I've done both. Maybe you think it is easy to give up this stuff. There is a half-million dollars' worth of nice little things in that box, small as it is."

"I cannot begin to thank you enough," said Barnes. "See here, you must allow me to reward you in some way commensurate with yours."

"Cut that out," said Sprouse darkly. "I'm not so virtuous that I have to be rewarded. I like the game. It's the breath of life to me."

"The time will surely come when I can do you a good turn, Sprouse, and you will not find me reluctant," said Barnes, lamely.

"That's different. If I ever need a friendly hand I'll call on you. It's only fair that I should give you a tip. Barnes, just to put you on your guard. From now on, I'm a free agent. I want to advise you to put that stuff in a safe place. I'll give you two days' start. After that, if I can get 'em away from you, or whoever may have them, I'm going to do it. They will be fair plunder from then on. Good night—and good-by for the present. Stick close to your room till morning and then beat it with her for New York. I give you two days' start, remember."

He switched off the light suddenly. There was no sound for many seconds, save the deep breathing of the two men. Then, with infinite caution, Sprouse turned the knob and opened the door a half inch or so. He left the room so abruptly that Barnes never quite got over the weird impression that he squeezed through that slender crack, and pulled it after him.

Many minutes passed before he turned on the light. The key of the box was tied to the wire grip. With trembling fingers he inserted it in the lock and opened the lid. . . . "A half-million dollars' worth of nice little things," Sprouse had said!

He did not close his eyes that night. Daybreak found him lying in bed, with the box under his pillow, a pistol at hand, and his eyes wide open. He was in a graver quandary than ever. Now that he had the treasure in his possession, what was he to do with it?

He solved the breakfast problem by calling downstairs for a waiter and ordering coffee and rolls and eggs sent up to his room. Singularly enough the waiter solved the other and more disturbing problem for him.

"Some robbery last night," said that worthy. "Feller up in one of the cottages at the sanatorium. All beat up, something fierce they say."

"Up in—Where?" almost shouted Barnes, starting up.

The man explained where the cottages were situated.

"Seems he was to leave by auto early this mornin', and they didn't know anything was wrong till Joe Keep—he's driving a car. Mr. Norton has for rent—All Joe'd been settin' out in front for nearly half an hour. The man's wife was waitin' for him up at the main buildin' and she got so tired waitin' that she sent one of the clerks down to see what was keeping her husband. Well, sir, him and Joe couldn't wake the feller, so they climbed in an open window, an' by god, Joe says it was terrible. The feller was layin' on the bed, feet an' hands tied and gagged, and blood from head to foot. He was incoherent. Joe says, an'—my God, how his wife took on! Joe says he couldn't stand it, so he snook out, shakin' like a leaf."

"Is—the man dead?" cried Barnes, aghast.

"Nope! Seems like it's nothing serious: just beat up, that's all. Terrible cuts on his head and—"

"What time did all this happen?"

"Joe Smith figures it was long about midnight, judge, by the way the blood coagulated."

"Did they get away with much?"

"Haven't heard. Seems as though the burglar—must ha' been more'n one of 'em, I say—wasn't satisfied with crackin' him over the head. He stuck the point of a knife or something into him—just a little way, Joe says—in more'n a dozen places. What say?"

"Some Robbery Last Night."

"I didn't say anything."

"I thought you did. Well, if I hear anything more I'll let you know."

Barnes listened at the door until he heard the waiter clattering down the stairway, and then went swiftly down the hall to No. 30. Mr. Prosser was sleeping just as soundly and as resoundingly as at midnight!

"By god!" he muttered, half-aloud. Everything was as clear as day to him now. Bolting into his own room, he closed the door and stood stockstill for many minutes, trying to picture the scene in the cottage.

PRICE-FIXING PLAN DROPPED, GARY BELIEVES

Head of Steel Corporation
Bases Fear on Government Dispute.

LOOKS FOR IMPROVEMENT

How Long It Will Require to Get Back to Normal is Uncertain; No
Danger of Country Going in Depression Which Will End in Disaster.

NEW YORK, April 22.—The entire plan for price stabilization in the steel industry has been abandoned, according to Judge Albert H. Gary, chairman of the United States Steel Corporation. This impression he said has been gained from the newspaper reports of the so-called controversy in Washington between the Railroad Administration and the Industrial Board. His views were given in answer to a stockholder who asked whether President Wilson had not asked for two governmental departments to endeavor to reach an agreement. In reply Judge Gary said: "I am what I read in the newspapers. I believe the whole plan has been abandoned but I hope that I may be mistaken."

Judge Gary emphasized that the Steel Corporation had no connection with any government department but his auditors understood that if the steel manufacturers had realized that the Railroad Administration would endeavor to obtain low prices on the particular products which it needed without conceding whether they were far to produce as well as the consumer, the steel men would have been used to enter into negotiations in the matter of stabilization.

A number of stockholders, of whom there were more present than at any of the meetings in recent years were especially inquisitive regarding the future policy of the company regarding improvements and extensions and especially dividends on the common stock. In regard to the latter Judge Gary said:

You will recall that about three years ago the Finance Committee issued a statement in which it was set forth that a rate of five per cent should be established and maintained and that if and when conditions justified other payments should be made as extra dividends. The action on dividends he said would largely be based on conditions existing at the time and upon the prospects.

You will observe, he said, that I have not said what the next dividend will be. That is for the simple reason that I don't know. The directors and the Finance Committee will be governed in the way I have just indicated.

We will do everything in the way of making extensions and betterments that will make success for the corporation reasonably sure with competitors either in this country or any other country. We have shown that we intend to keep strong in cash. It requires $150,000,000 to do business comfortably.

In regard to business conditions he said: "All I can say is that any man who believes that this country has gone into bankruptcy or has embarked upon a period of business depression which will end in disaster or that in the near future we will enter into such a period of demoralization is the man who does not possess himself with facts and figures. If you ask how soon the steel industry will return to the period of prosperity on which it had started prior to the action taken by the director general of railroads with respect to prices I cannot give you a definite reply. The date is not so important as the fact. The date depends largely upon the business men throughout the country and not upon any single individual or corporation. I believe the majority of these men know something about the resources of our country and have confidence in them."

What Excuse Will You Have?

When Bill Smith comes home shortly from France, possibly minus a leg or an arm or an eye with a foot twisted from rheumatism contracted in the trenches or a lung like a dry sponge from the effects of the "deadly Bocho gas you will give him the glad hand."

"Highly glad to see you back alive, Bill," you'll say, heartily. "How are you anyway old top?" And Bill Smith who has been down to hell and waunged to crawl back by the skin of his teeth, will grin at you cheerfully. "Slightly disabled, but still in the ring," he'll reply.

And then you will want to hear all about it. You'll get Bill Smith away from the crowd if you happen to meet him down town, and remembering his weakness for bitterness you'll criticize him slowly and painfully up to Jackson's place. And the tinkle of the ice in the glass will be music to buttermilk-thirsty Bill Smith, yet even.

Bill Smith will tell you the whole story. There will be times when he will stop, shudder, frown and close his eyes to shut out some horrible memory.

Drive the Liquor Habit From Your Home

Can Be Done Secretly

Physicians and druggists unhesitatingly recommend Tescum powders for the liquor habit in any form. They quickly destroy the craving and make whiskey and other alcoholic beverages repugnant. Druggists will tell you Tescum is selling better than any other remedy for the liquor habit. There is a reason for this. It is because it gives better satisfaction. One physician says: "I can stand in the door of my home and throw a stone into a neighbor's yard to whom I gave Tescum powders for drunkenness and he was completely cured. Have also cured a large number of other patients." A druggist reports: "Tescum is having an enormous sale. It gives excellent satisfaction. A lady recently wrote: 'I have used Tescum on my husband secretly and he has not taken a drink in three months. Another lady says: 'I only wish I had known of Tescum before.' Here is another who tried it: 'After taking two boxes of Tescum I did not crave liquor.' Another writes: 'I don't think it expensive at all. Just think of the thousands of dollars he has spent for whiskey. The few dollars I spent for Tescum has been worth thousands. Here is an extract from another letter: 'I sent a box of Tescum to my friend Mrs. C. M. for her to try on her husband. Hope she will be as successful as I have been as it is wonderful. I will never tell my husband what cured him. And so on it goes. An enthusiastic report after another. If you have a relative or a friend who drinks, just try it for a few weeks and note the marvelous change. They will soon complain that drink does not taste the same and in a short time they will stop altogether and never know the reason why.'"

Not a leading druggist when he saw the above article said: 'Yes, Tescum is a very reliable remedy for the drink habit. It is harmless, wonderfully effective and is having an enormous sale. I advise everyone who wishes to destroy the liquor habit to give it a trial. You take no risk with Tescum as it is sold in this city under a steel bound money refund guarantee by a druggist including J. C. Moore—Ad.'"
